

Name:

Winter Quarter Planning

What do you want to accomplish during the winter quarter in regards to your thesis project? List your goals. (Think about data collection and analysis!)

For example:

1. Complete five interviews with my chosen population

Break down each of the goals you identified above into subgoals. To achieve each goal, what are the smaller steps you need to accomplish?

For example:

1. Complete five interviews with my chosen population
 - 1a. Advertise my study by emailing campus groups, posting fliers around campus, and posting on social media
 - 1b. Schedule interviews with at least five potential interviewees
 - 1c. Conduct five interviews

When will you achieve these subgoals? Map your subgoals onto the weeks of winter quarter. Some subgoals take more time than others; they may span multiple weeks. Other subgoals can't be done until previous ones are completed (e.g., you can't analyze transcripts until interviews are transcribed; you cannot collect data until you have IRB approval). Your goal is to set a realistic schedule for yourself that you can stick to!

Week of 1/2/23

- Classes start 1/4

Week of 1/9/23

Week of 1/16/23

- Martin Luther King Jr Day 1/16

Week of 1/23/23

Week of 1/30/23

Week of 2/6/23

Week of 2/13/23

Week of 2/20/23

- Presidents' Day 2/20

Week of 2/27/23

Week of 3/6/23

Week of 3/13/23

- Classes end 3/17

Week of 3/20/23

- Quarter ends 3/24

How will you stay accountable to these goals? (Think about rewards you can give yourself, friends who can keep you accountable, etc.)

Which resources will you access on campus during the winter quarter? (E.g., your advisor, Professor Carian, the statistics consultant, the library and librarians, etc)

How often will you meet with your advisor? (You should answer this question after discussing it with your advisor!)
